

Punj Lloyd JV bags Rs 142 crore order from Delhi Metro

New Delhi, June 21, 2006

Punj Lloyd Ltd., along with its joint venture partner, Persys, has bagged a Rs 142 crore project from Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC) for the Inderlok - Mundka Corridor of Phase-II.

Persys is a Malaysian construction company with whom Punj Lloyd had successfully completed the DMRC project earlier as well. This project involves design and construction of elevated via-duct of 4.784 km length including structural work of four elevated stations - Nangloi, Nangloi Railway station, Rajdhani Park, Mundka on Inderlok -Mundka corridor of phase II. The project would be completed within 30 months from the date of its starting.

Punj Lloyd had earlier completed a 6.3 km long Flyover between Kirti Nagar and Tilak Nagar as a part of CP-Dwarka Corridor in Phase-I of DMRC. It involved construction of a Metro Corridor over the existing Raja Garden flyover at a record height of 17 meters from ground, a unique feat for construction companies in India. The pile foundation work in the project had been challenging considering several existing underground utilities and round-the-clock traffic movement in congested areas.
